Jet Shades to Showcase Sun Protection Innovations at EAA AirVenture OshKosh 2025

Meet new Sales Manager Eric Wolff and explore cockpit comfort solutions at Hangar C, Booth #3047.

OSHKOSH, WI, July 21, 2025 – Jet Shades, the industry leader in premium cockpit sun protection, is excited to announce its participation in the 2025 EAA AirVenture OshKosh, one of the largest aviation expos in the world, taking place from July 21-27, 2025, at Wittman Regional Airport in Oshkosh, Wisconsin. Jet Shades will be located in Hangar C, Booth #3047, where attendees can explore the latest sun protection solutions for pilots and aviation professionals. With over 6,000 pilots already using Jet Shades, this is a unique opportunity for aviation enthusiasts to learn about the advantages of using Jet Shades to reduce cockpit heat, glare, and harmful UV exposure.

In addition, Jet Shades is pleased to announce the appointment of Eric Wolff as the company's new Sales Manager. With over 25 years of experience in aerospace sales and sales management, Eric brings a wealth of knowledge and leadership to the team. His extensive background includes roles across a wide range of aircraft platforms, including helicopters, fixed-wing aircraft, turboprops, business jets, airliners, and military platforms. His deep understanding of the aerospace market and aircraft components uniquely positions him to strengthen Jet Shades' sales efforts and expand the company's reach across multiple aviation sectors.

As an active pilot and an enthusiastic advocate of Jet Shades' products, Eric understands firsthand the importance of cockpit comfort and safety. He is particularly passionate about how Jet Shades reduce cockpit temperatures and block harmful UVA and UVB rays, thereby helping to protect both pilots and passengers.

"We are thrilled to have Eric join the growing Jet Shades team," said Kevin J. Duggan, President of Jet Shades. "His extensive experience in aerospace sales, combined with his knowledge and enthusiasm for our product line, will continue to drive our growth and bring our innovative solutions to a wider audience. We're excited to have him meet with customers at our booth during EAA AirVenture."

Attendees of EAA AirVenture OshKosh 2025 are invited to stop by Jet Shades' booth in Hangar C to meet Eric, learn about the latest Jet Shades products, and discover how these sun shades can enhance both comfort and safety in the cockpit.
